"A Fascinating Encounter with One of the Great Pioneers of Our Age"

The Swiss psychiatrist Carl Jung leaves a legacy of wide-ranging investigations into the workings of the human psyche that has left its mark on our culture beyond the field of psychiatry. In his work, which spanned the first half of the twentieth century, Jung showed that we are innately creative and his theory of the creative power of dreams continues to influence both therapists and artists today.

In honor of Jung's birthday, July 26, 1875, we will be showing a unique film created from video interviews with Jung in the late 1950's. The World Within: C.G. Jung In His Own Words features Jung discussing many of his major ideas with examples from his long experience of the workings of the human psyche.

About the Moderator: David Palomo, M.A., Ed.S., received an MA in counseling psychology from Pacifica Graduate Institute in Santa Barbara where Jung's psychology is central to the program; he also holds a degree in counseling from Kent State and is on the board of Jung Cleveland.
