

March Lecture & Workshop

Led by Jungian Analyst

Lionel Corbett, M.D.

Jung in Dialogue with the Soul: Is Analytical Psychology a New Religion?

Lecture: 3/16/12 | 7 - 9 p.m. | CEUs Available

This lecture will focus on the implications of the dialogues between Jung and his soul that are recorded in "The Red Book." In one of these dialogues, the soul tells Jung that he has received a revelation that he should not hide. His calling is the new religion and its proclamation. Is Jung's approach to the psyche really the revelation of a new form of spirituality? If analytical psychology is indeed an emerging form of spirituality, what does that look like in practice, how does it compare with traditional religious forms, and what are the implications for the practice of psychotherapy and for our culture?

Depth Psychology as a Spiritual Practice

Workshop: 3/17/12 | 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. | CEUs Available

This workshop will review Jung's approach to religion and spirituality and then present the idea that for many people the practice of depth psychotherapy is a contemporary form of spiritual direction. Instead of a traditional theistic idea – that of integrating spiritual direction into psychotherapy and depth psychology – Dr. Corbett suggests that using a Jungian approach, these disciplines can be seen as synonymous. This workshop will illustrate this idea with examples from our participants' experiences.

About the Presenter:
